HONORARY

BISHOP JAMES LLOYD KNOX

James Lloyd Knox was born in Tampa, Florida, on January 16, 1929, the son of Carlos Stephen and Jessie Hardee Knox. A graduate of Plant High School, he received an A.B. degree from Florida Southern College in 1951 and a B.D. degree from Candler School of Theology at Emory University in 1954. Honorary doctorates were awarded him by Bethune-Cookman College in 1978 and Florida Southern College in 1987. He married Edith Laney Strawn on June 2, 1951. They had two children, Richard Michael and Carol Anne.

Lloyd was called to the ministry at Hyde Park Methodist Church in Tampa, where he joined the Boy Scouts and then became active in the congregation.

While a student at Candler he served the three-point Williamson Charge in the North Georgia Conference. Bishop Roy H. Short received him into the Florida Conference on trial in 1952. He was ordained a deacon in 1953 and an elder in 1954 by Bishop John W. Branscomb.

From 1954 to 1958 Lloyd served St. John’s in Tampa. In 1958 he and Edith, a nurse, were assigned by the General Board of Missions as missionaries to Cuba. Lloyd served the four-point Santiago de las Vegas Circuit and was chaplain of Wesley School, while Edith ran a medical dispensary in a poor barrio. The Cuban Revolution forced them to leave in 1960. From 1961 to 1964 they served in Argentina, where Lloyd was pastor of three congregations in Lomas de Zamora and concurrently superintendent of the Buenos Aires South District. He was editor of the mission quarterly, Land of Decision, and news correspondent for the Board of Missions in Argentina.

Upon their return to the Florida Conference, the Knoxes served the following appointments: associate, First, West Palm Beach, 1964-65; coordinator, Florida Methodist Spanish Ministry, 1965-73; Hyde Park, Tampa 1973-77; superintendent, DeLand District, 1977-80; superintendent, Miami District, 1980-83; and First, St. Petersburg, 1983-84.

In his work with the Spanish Ministry, Lloyd had responsibility for twenty Spanish-language congregations. He worked with Mexican-American farm workers, Puerto Ricans, and other Latin Americans in Florida. He supervised the resettlement of Cuban refugees, a cooperative effort with other denominations. The task grew to include leadership in community development for the Miami area. Much of the work was interracial and bilingual, for which he was well prepared. When he was on the Miami District, he once again helped with resettlement of refugees, Haitian and Cuban, and ministered to the entire area during a period of critical change. He organized the Miami Urban Ministry.

He served as chair of the Conference Council on Ministries, the Work Area on Evangelism, and the Committee on Finance and Administration. He was delegate to Jurisdictional and General Conferences in 1972, 1976, 1980, and 1984.

He was a member of the following general boards and commissions: Church and Society, Religion and Race, Christian Unity and Interreligious Concerns, and Global Ministries. He was president of the World Division of the General Board of Global Ministries, 1988-92. Knox was a member of the Human Relations Commission of the State of Georgia and trustee of twelve colleges, including Florida Southern College and Bethune-Cookman University, as well as of the Florida United Methodist Children’s Home.

The Knoxes retired to St. Petersburg in 1996. Edith died in May of 2008. He married Julia Davis Nolen in July of 2009, and they made their home in Gadsden, Alabama. There he was active in First United Methodist Church, serving with the Ladle of Love soup ministry, visiting the sick, and taking communion to the homebound.

Bishop Knox died on April 13, 2014. A memorial service was held on April 16, 2014, at First United Methodist Church in Gadsden, Alabama. A second service was held on April 26, 2014, at Hyde Park United Methodist Church in Tampa, Florida. His ashes were interred in the memorial garden of Hyde Park beside Edith.

He is survived by his wife, Julia; his two children, Michael Knox of Gainesville, Florida, and Carol Knox and wife Sylvia Smith of Tallahassee, Florida; his sister, Amelia Wilcox of Poulsbo, Washington; and many nieces, nephews, and close friends.

Bishop Knox was a man of deep personal faith, a warm and generous spirit, and a clarity of purpose. He had a passionate concern for justice and a clear vision of a world in which all people can live in love and peace. He will be remembered for his missionary spirit, his compassionate heart, and his belief in people.

CATALINA MAGALI BORBÓN

Catalina Magali Borbón was born in Morón, Camagüey, Cuba, on February 13, 1941, the daughter of Próspero G. Pérez and Serafina E. Rodríguez. Upon graduation from the Institute of Morón with a bachelor’s degree in science and arts, Catalina headed up to the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Matanzas, Cuba, endorsed by the Episcopal Church. In 1965 she received her master’s degree in Christian education from that institution.

Catalina was then appointed director of Christian education of the Episcopal Church of Cuba and also served the Department of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Cuba. For several years she was a professor at the Evangelical Theological Seminary.

On July 28, 1967, she married the Reverend José A. Borbón, a Methodist minister of the Cuba Conference. Catalina and José were blessed with two children: Miguel Alberto and José Antonio.

In 1978, the Borbón family left Cuba and came to the United States. As a United Methodist minister, her husband served several churches in South Florida, and Catalina became actively involved in the ministry of the local church. The Center was an example of inclusiveness and integral formation for children.

At the 2000 session of the Florida Annual Conference, she was ordained a deacon in full connection. She served at Mt. Sinai, Dania Beach, 2005-06. She took personal leave in 2007.

At the time, Catalina was chairperson of the Hispanic Ministry Task Force.

Catalina was a committed and talented leader, always open to listen and help other people in need. She accomplished several significant things during her life journey. One of them was the creation of the Hispanic Family Camp, initiated with her husband in 1984 as a ministry for Hispanic families of the Florida Conference. For twenty-eight years Catalina served as its director, with the assistance of a team of capable leaders.

The Reverend Catalina M. Borbón passed away on April 22, 2013. A memorial service was held on April 27, 2013, at Epworth United Methodist Church in Hollywood, Florida, with the Reverend Dr. Cruz Edwin Santos officiating.

After graduating from Millsaps College in Jackson Mississippi, where he was editor of the campus newspaper, Caxton enrolled in Yale Divinity School. An outstanding student, he won academic awards and the praise of famed theologian, Richard Niebuhr, while at the same time working for the Associated Press and the New Haven Journal-Courier to pay his way through school. Although reared and educated in rural Mississippi, he grew to become chaplain of the Miami chapter of the NAACP, president of the Florida Council on Human Relations, and aide to Thurgood Marshall in the notorious Groveland Boys rape case. In addition, as president of the Miami Chapter of the United Nations Association, he received a personal letter of thanks from Eleanor Roosevelt for his advocacy of the fledging UN. James Burton Gayler was born on February 19, 1930, in a small farmhouse outside Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, to Chester Burton and Sadie Mae Gayler. He spent his formative years on the farm, with summers on the family homestead farm near Lyerly, Georgia.

At the age of fourteen Jim entered Emory University Academy in Oxford, Georgia, where he gave his life to Christ and was called to preach at age fifteen. He then attended both Emory Junior College in Valdosta for his A.A. degree and Emory University in Atlanta, receiving his B.A. in 1948. During this time Jim served several churches, pastoring his first at age sixteen, then graduated from Candler School of Theology in 1953 with a Master of Divinity degree. He is one of the few who attended four different schools—high school through graduate work—within the Emory University system. He later attended Asbury Seminary in Wilmore, Kentucky, and in 1977 received a Doctor of Ministry degree from Luther Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Florida.

While at Candler, he served as summer youth pastor at Reeves Memorial in Orlando, Florida, where he met his wife-to-be, Betty Ann Hathaway. They were married on September 6, 1951, and had three children: David, born in December 1952; Stephen, born in 1955; and Joy Annette, born in August 1964.

Jim joined the Florida Conference in 1954 and served Pinetta, 1954-56, and Glen Julia Circuit, 1956-57. He then served the Evangelical Methodist Congregation in Mableton, Georgia, 1957-59; founded the Youth for Christ Ministry in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, 1959-61; served the Holiness Tabernacle in Lakeland, Florida, 1961-62; and was youth pastor at Reeves Memorial in Orlando, 1962-63.

He was re-admitted to the Florida Conference on trial and ordained a deacon in 1963 and was ordained an elder in 1965. He served the following appointments: Union Park, Orlando, 1963-67; First, Jasper, 1967-71; Coral Way, Miami, June-October, 1971; Wesley Memorial, Gainesville, 1971-76; St. Marks, Ocala, 1976-82; Grace, Gainesville, 1982-84; Reeves Memorial, Orlando, 1984-85; Bellevue, 1985-86; and Community, DeBary, 1986-94.

Jim’s ministry was centered on his philosophy of service beyond self. He always requested to be assigned to churches in need, rather than larger or thriving churches. His personal and spiritual gain was the knowledge that he was serving the Lord and helping others in the way God intended. Jim and Betty’s ministry resulted in many hundreds of people giving their lives to Christ and serving as God’s ambassadors.

Jim believed in “putting feet to your prayers” and wore out hundreds of pairs of shoes going door to door visiting church members and non-members. His engaging country smile, ability to connect with people, and relentless drive to call on those in need set him apart. The Lord has welcomed into Heaven a good and faithful servant, a humble farm boy who served the Lord with all his might. He will be missed greatly by his family and the many friends he made along his memorable life journey.

Jim went home to the Lord on March 19, 2014, after a long and courageous fight with cancer. His funeral service was held on March 22, 2014, at the Oxford United Methodist Church in Oxford, Florida, with the Reverends William Kennedy, Don Logue, and Walter Edwards officiating. Interment was at Pine Level Cemetery in Oxford.

Jim is survived by his loving wife of more than sixty-two years, Betty; son David and wife Winnie and granddaughter Josephine; son Stephen; daughter Joy and husband Les Wise; brother Bill of Boynton Beach; brother Bob of Baltimore; and sister JoAnn of Oregon.

PAUL WHITEFIELD HAINES

Paul Whitefield Haines was born on May 2, 1923, in Japanese-occupied Seoul, Korea. He was the first of two sons born to Paul Ehret and Myrtle J. Neff Haines, missionaries serving in Korea under the Oriental Missionary Society. From childhood Paul was immersed in a unique reality that straddled his close-knit missionary community and the ancient Korean culture. He attended Seoul Foreign School until the final year of high school when World War II necessitated a family move to the United States. He graduated in 1941 from Hollywood High School in Los Angeles, California, before attending Asbury College and Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Kentucky.

Paul met Florence Alice Hall, of La Belle, Florida, shortly after he arrived at Asbury. They were married on May 29, 1946, after Florence completed nurse’s training and returned to join Paul in studying at the seminary. Paul received his divinity degree in 1948 and traveled in a radio quartet ministry while Florence completed her master’s in religious education, preparing them to be a team in their ministry for Christ.

Paul was admitted to the Florida Conference on trial in 1949 and was ordained a deacon and an elder in 1950. He served as assistant at First, Tampa, 1949-50, under the guidance of Dr. E.J. Pendergrass.

Just before the outbreak of the Korean War, the Florida Conference approved Paul and Florence’s request to return to Korea as career missionaries under the Oriental Missionary Society. War re-routed them to Tokyo, where they taught together in the OMS Seminary until Paul was re-assigned to the war zone in 1951. He traveled in and out of Korea from 1951 to 1953, leaving the family in Japan. God used the sobering reality of the Korean War to deepen Paul’s love for the Korean people and to magnify his personal faith in the saving grace of Jesus Christ. At the end of the conflict, the family joined him in Korea.

Paul and Florence were parents to four children: Judith Lynne, born on May 5, 1950; Paul Lowell, born on January 10, 1953; Douglas Wesley, born on January 19, 1955; and Terrel William, born on December 30, 1957.

For forty years Paul’s passion for Christ took him in the footsteps of his father as he focused on evangelism and church planting throughout the villages of Korea. His charismatic personality and vocal musical talents together with fluency in the Korean language equipped him for a unique missionary career. In 1981 Paul received the Asbury College Alumni Award for distinction in Christian service and loyalty to the university. Near the end of his career, the Korean Evangelical Holiness Church honored Paul with a lifetime award for outstanding service to Christ in Korea.

Paul and Florence officially retired from OMS International (now One Mission Society) in 1990 and returned to their permanent home in Winona Lake, Indiana. Paul continued as OMS liaison to the Korean Evangelical Church in America while he traveled across the United States, speaking at churches and conferences until 2001, when Florence’s failing health needed his full attention. Her fight with breast cancer ended on October 6, 2002. Paul resumed his schedule until 2003, when he suffered a stroke that limited his mobility. In 2004 he moved into Heritage Pointe United Methodist Memorial Community in Warren, Indiana, where he lived until his death on July 2, 2013, at the age of ninety.

Paul is survived by his daughter Judith and husband Scott Shively of Plano, Texas; three sons: Lowell and wife Sherry of Indianapolis, Indiana; Douglas of Winona Lake, Indiana; and Terry and wife Mary of Overland Park, Kansas; eight grandchildren; and one great granddaughter. Family and friends celebrated his life at a memorial service on August 30, 2013, at the Toney Chapel of the Southport Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis, Indiana. Burial was in Ft. Myers Cemetery, Ft. Myers, Florida.

JAMES HERBERT HANKINS

James Herbert Hankins was born on March 10, 1931, in Cedar Bluff, Virginia, to LeRoy and Florence Talbert Hankins. He was part of a clergy family, as his father and two brothers were Methodist pastors and his mother was a Quaker minister and teacher.

Jim married Eleanor Southard on June 23, 1954. She served beside him throughout his ministry. They had four children: David, Merri Lynne, Rebecca, and Steven.

He graduated from Asbury College with a B.A. in 1953, Candler School of Theology with a B.D. in 1956, Union Theological Seminary with an M.T. in 1965, and Drew University with a D.M. in 1977. He was admitted to the Holston Conference on trial in 1953, ordained a deacon in 1954, and ordained an elder in 1956. He transferred to the Florida Conference in 1973.

His ministry and evangelism in Liberia for more than fourteen years was a challenging and exciting time in service to the church and in answer to God’s call. He worked with eight Liberian pastors in the West African jungles of Liberia to spread the gospel in the villages and for his first two terms also served as chairman of Ganta Mission, the largest United Methodist mission station in the world at that time. Jim used his Appalachian mountain upbringing to good stead supervising the three hundred native Liberian workers in general maintenance and building projects. His third term he was appointed to the Firestone Rubber Plantation as chaplain and pastor. He always felt that it was a great privilege to share God’s love in ministry in Liberia.

On returning to America to continue his ministry, he saw a great need for trained pastoral counselors. He became a certified member of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and as part of his ministry worked part time at a counseling center for eleven years.

Jim was a gifted craftsman and artist. He loved woodworking and built a pulpit and communion table at his first church. Ganta Mission had a sawmill and carpentry shop, so he designed the first prototype of a Liberian African coffee table that the mission workers reproduced and sold by the hundreds. He also put his rural upbringing to use by raising chickens, ducks, pigs, and rabbits so that both missionaries and native Liberians could supplement an otherwise protein-deficient diet.

Jim had always enjoyed being an amateur cartoonist, but while stationed in Liberia he picked up a paint brush to paint Liberian scenes. His portrait of Liberian President William Tubman was so lifelike that President Tubman claimed it for himself when he came on official state business.

After retirement Jim served for several years as a full-time volunteer for Habitat for Humanity supervising the building of Habitat homes in Lakeland. He continued to enjoy playing tennis with clergy, friends, family, and parishioners throughout his adult life and into retirement.

Jim died from lung cancer on December 10, 2013. A Celebration of Life service was held on December 27, 2013, at First United Methodist Church in Lakeland, Florida, with Bishop Robert Fannin, the Reverend David McEntire, and the Reverend Bill Fraker officiating.

He is survived by his beloved wife of fifty-nine years, Eleanor, and their four children: Dr. David Hankins of Lakeland, Florida; Merri Hankins and husband Bill Hunt of Arlington, Virginia; Rebecca Hankins-Ivey and husband Barry Ivey of Orlando, Florida; and Dr. Steven Hankins and wife Yan Hua of Honolulu, Hawaii; and by eight grandchildren. HARRIS CLEVELAND JONES III

Harris Cleveland Jones III was born in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, on July 8, 1934, to Harris Cleveland Jones, Jr., and Emma Fenny Jones. He graduated in 1952 from Hattiesburg High School, where he met his high school sweetheart, Myrtle M. Morris, whom he married in 1954.

With a strong Methodist heritage, Harris and Myrtle were active in their church youth programs. It was at a Methodist youth camp that Harris surrendered his life to the Lord. He also felt called into pastoral ministry, so at the youthful age of seventeen, he began studies for his license to preach. He preached and shared his testimony at various churches and served as pastor of Dixie United Methodist Church in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, 1954-55, while finishing his undergraduate work.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1955, with majors in religion, philosophy, and sociology. Two years later he received a Master of Theology degree from Asbury Seminary. In 1957 Harris was also admitted on trial to the Alabama-West Florida Conference and ordained a deacon; in 1959 he was ordained an elder and received into full connection. He served churches there for fourteen years, also serving on the Conference Council, chairing the area of Christian Social Concerns, and working with the Stewardship and Finance Committee.

Harris transferred to the Florida Conference in 1971 and served the following appointments: Lake Jackson, Tallahassee, 1971-75; Main Street, Jacksonville, 1975-76; First, Chattahoochee, 1976-79; Tallahassee Heights, Tallahassee, 1979-80; General Board of Global Ministries, 1980-85; Grace, Orlando, 1985-86; Wesley Memorial, Lakeland, 1986-89; First, Eustis, 1989-94; and First, Lake Wales, 1994-97. He retired in 1997. He worked with the Conference Council in the area of Stewardship and Finance.

In 1980 the General Board of Global Ministries invited Harris to work in the National Division with Stewardship and Finance. He conducted financial campaigns helping churches all over the United States raise funds for budgets, property improvements, and new buildings. Harris was a strong believer in the Biblical concept of tithing, and having practiced this since his teen years, it was easy for him to preach and teach from God’s word and his personal experiences. Myrtle traveled with him and assisted as a volunteer during these five fulfilling years of special ministry.

Harris’ ministry touched many lives during his more than fifty-five years of service. He preached many revivals and some camp meetings in his younger years. After retirement he worked in prison ministries and Emmaus, as well as preaching and teaching.

Harris passed away rather suddenly on May 13, 2013. Funeral services were held at the Niceville United Methodist Church in Niceville, Florida. Officiating were two longtime friends, the Reverend Edward Chandler and the Reverend Douglas Newton, of the Alabama-West Florida Conference. They shared how Harris’s greatest passion was to lead others to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ and challenge them to make a personal commitment. His sons and his grandson Jake shared words of love and respect. Interment was at Highlands Cemetery in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, with the Reverend Douglas Williams officiating.

He is survived by Myrtle, his wife of fifty-nine years; their three children and spouses, Harris Cleveland Jones IV and wife Renee, Andrew Newman Jones and wife Rebecca, and Lori Elise Dobbs and husband Mike; eight grandchildren; and five great grandchildren.

Harris was a committed and faithful husband and father. To quote his children, “Daddy gave us our first glimpse of God’s infinite love.” He was a solid rock and a light for their path. He enjoyed God’s beautiful world camping, hunting, and fishing with his family. He had a long and wonderful life serving his savior. Harris Cleveland Jones III was a true man of God . . . only because he had a Great Savior.

He was married to Mae Geraldine Phillips from 1939 to 1960. From 1964 until her death in 2002 he was married to Nancy Chapmon Ross.

John’s work in the ministry began in 1941 when he and three friends founded the “Chicken House” Church, now Brookhaven Baptist Church, in Greensboro, North Carolina. He was admitted to the Western North Carolina Conference on trial in 1950 and was ordained a deacon, received into full connection, and ordained an elder in 1953. He took a break from the pastoral ministry to serve as the Mid-South director of CROP in Memphis, Tennessee, from 1955 to 1960. The Reverend Mr. Kincaid never completely retired, and from 1977 until his final retirement in 1992 he worked in the North Carolina Prison System, in the state mental health system, and with at-risk youth. His belief in the power of education and hard work to improve lives always guided his efforts as he touched many in seen and unseen ways. In October 1992 he was recognized by Governor James Martin for his work with disadvantaged youth. The network of walking trails and a boardwalk they built around the public access area at Lake Lure, North Carolina, are still used today.

John and Nancy shared a passion for collecting antiques, working with their Arabian horses, and planning and building their retirement home in Lake Lure, built with logs from tobacco barns in Rockingham County, North Carolina. He also built several parsonages over the years. He was an avid reader and published three books during the last ten years of his life. A generous man, he often extended assistance to strangers as well as friends. With a friendly smile and wave he traveled about on his scooter in Reidsville, North Carolina, where he lived in the later years of his life.

He passed away at his daughter’s home in Ocala, Florida, on Friday, January 24, 2014. A memorial service was held at Wentworth United Methodist Church, in Wentworth, North Carolina, on March 1, 2014, with the pastor, the Reverend Herb McClintock, officiating.

Eleazar Legrá was born in Holguín, Cuba, on March 6, 1930, to Amalio Eulogio Legrá and Rogelia Matos. His father was a local pastor in the Methodist Church of Cuba. The Legras raised their children with strong moral values and Christian principles. The whole family was always involved in the activities of Methodism in Cuba and in the United States.

Eleazar made the decision to go into the ministry while a secondary school student. After earning a Bachelor of Arts degree from the Institute of Holguín, Cuba, he was admitted to the Evangelical Theological Seminary of Matanzas, Cuba, in 1950. Three years later he finished all the requirements for his Bachelor of Theology degree and graduated on June 22, 1953. He was ordained an elder and received into full connection in 1955.

Less than a month after his graduation, on July 16, 1953, Eleazar married the former Maria Rosaura Partal, his first and only love. After their honeymoon they went to serve the pastoral circuit of Aguada de Pasajeros, Cuba, where they stayed for seven years. Sensitive to the need of good quality education for the children of that rural community, they established an elementary school sponsored by the local church.

Eleazar and Rosaura left Cuba in 1961 and established their home in South Florida. At the beginning Eleazar did not have the opportunity to serve as a minister. He started working in the business of his older brother, Elias, who had already been living in the United States for more than ten years. Eleazar also obtained a license as a realtor and worked in that field for some time. However, his heart was in church ministry and a couple of years after his arrival in Florida he had the opportunity to become a local pastor in the Florida Conference. With the support of his wife, he served the following appointments: West Palm Beach Hispanic; Wesley Hispanic, Coral Gables; First Hispanic, Hialeah; Lakeview Hispanic, Miami; and First Hispanic, Miami. The Reverend Mr. Legrá retired as a local pastor in 1995 but continued to serve First Miami Hispanic for a few more years.

After twenty years of service at First Miami Hispanic, he and his wife joined the Hispanic American United Methodist Church of Hialeah, a congregation he had served many years earlier. There he was supportive of the appointed ministers, helped as a pastor of visitation, and continued his evangelistic ministry with The Upper Room in Spanish, a devotional guide he put in the hands of hundreds of people. Rev. Legrá was a strong believer in the practice of a healthy devotional life. From their two appointments in the Cuba Conference to their service in several churches in the Florida Conference, Eleazar and Rosaura Legra served with love and faith for more than forty-five years.

Eleazar died on January 1, 2014. His wife of sixty years, Rosaura, preceded him in death on November 30, 2013. A service celebrating his life was held on January 3, 2014, at the chapel of Caballero Woodland Funeral Home in Hialeah, Florida, with the Reverends Danilo and Odalys Quevedo officiating. Interment was in the Vista Memorial Cemetery in Miami Lakes.

The Reverend Eleazar Legrá has left a rich spiritual legacy to all who had the privilege to know him. His family and friends have been blessed beyond measure to have this faithful man of God in their lives. As one of his colleagues in ministry aptly stated, “Eleazar served the Lord with grace and humility.”

Irvin met his future Scottish lassie bride at Albany Park Methodist Church in Albany Park, Pennsylvania. He and Maybelle Ferguson were married in April 1955; they were blessed with two children, Leslie and George.

Irvin followed the call on his life and entered the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville, Illinois, now merged with Garrett-Evangelical Seminary. He received a Master of Divinity degree in 1972.

He was admitted on trial in the Pittsburgh Conference and ordained a deacon in 1955 and was ordained an elder and received into full connection in 1957. He transferred to the Florida Conference in 1959 and served the following appointments: associate, Southside, Jacksonville, 1959-61; Lockhart, Orlando, 1961-67; St. Andrews, Ft. Lauderdale, 1967-69; conference evangelist, 1969-75; and administrative committee for Educational Opportunities, 1975-78. He retired from the conference in 1978.

As a result of the insights he had gained from traveling to Israel when he was a young pastor, in 1974 Dr. Ridgway founded Educational Opportunities, a Christian travel organization to help Christian leaders visit the lands of their faith. He served as executive director until his retirement in 1999 and as a consultant for the rest of his life.

More than four hundred thousand Christians have traveled with the company on tours of faith and mission trips. Church leaders have realized the impact of being able to see, feel, and walk the lands they read about every day. In addition to a better understanding of the Biblical text, Dr. Ridgway mandated that his tours promote cultural harmony between Israelis and Palestinians, through the use of an equal number of Arab and Jewish guides, shopping venues, buses, and hotels.

Dr. Ridgway has been given honorary citizenship in the City of Bethlehem, a designation shared with President Jimmy Carter. Among the other awards he received for his humanitarian efforts were the Chagall Medal, given by Israel for the promotion of peace; the King Hussein Medal, given by Jordan for promoting a better understanding of Arab culture; the Peace Tourism Award of Excellence, given by the prime minister of Israel; an Apostolic Blessing, given by the Vatican for promoting Christian unity; and the gifting of a Galilean Peace Forest in his honor.

He died on February 27, 2014, of acute kidney failure. Funeral services were held on March 5, 2014, at First United Methodist Church in Lakeland, Florida, with Bishop Robert Fannin, Dr. Warren Langer, Dr. Bob Duncan, and the Reverend Bill Hild officiating. Burial was in Lakeland Memorial Gardens.

Jean Winona Ketwig French Russo was born on July 6, 1933, in Rochester, New York, to Winona Wilson Ketwig and Clarence Ketwig. After her mother’s untimely death in 1935, she was legally adopted by her aunt and uncle, Jim and Edith Crawford.

She graduated from West High School in Rochester, New York, in 1950 and then completed a nursing degree from Saint Mary’s Hospital Nursing Program in Rochester in 1953. Instead of pursuing a nursing career, however, she decided to marry and raise a family. She married Gilbert French in 1953 and had three children: Faith, born in October 1954; Karen, born in April 1956; and Gilbert, born in March 1958.

As her children grew older, Jean worked as an accountant doing payroll for Sears, Roebuck and Company. When the family moved to Florida, she worked and attended Florida International University, from which she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Religious Studies in 1978. From there she attended Candler School of Theology, Emory University, completing a Master of Divinity degree in 1981.

Jean was admitted to the Florida Conference as a probationary member and was ordained a deacon in 1981 and was ordained a full elder in 1983. She served the following appointments: Indiantown, 1981-82; Cherry Lake, Madison/Greenville, 1982-84; Peace, Miami, 1984-89; Northwood, West Palm Beach, 1989-90; Dania, 1990-95; and Trinity, Arcadia, 1995-98. She retired in 1998.

She was the first female pastor to serve at Peace in Miami, and at Dania she was the fourth-longest serving pastor in the church’s more than one-hundred-year history. She often delivered the invocation at meetings of the Dania City Commission, and before she left Dania in the summer of 1995, the city commission proclaimed Reverend Jean French Appreciation Day in her honor.

She married the Reverend James Russo, a member of the Florida Conference.

Jean never truly embraced retirement. Upon the death of her husband in 2000, she continued his work at the Jim Russo Prison Ministry and Development Center, serving for thirteen years as director and board chair. She also carried on her husband’s tradition of collecting toys for prisoners to give to their children. In 2012 she secured a grant from the Manatee County Foundation to construct a new home for the men at the Development Center. Ground breaking for the new house took place on March 12, 2014.

Jean French Russo went home to be with the Lord on October 24, 2013, following a brief illness. A celebration of life service was held at Trinity United Methodist Church in Bradenton, Florida, on November 1, 2013, with the Reverends Jim Rosenberg, Karen Macduff, Gary Eldred, Bob Green, Don Ringland, and Jim Martin officiating. On November 2, 2013, following the All Saints’ Day service, she was laid to rest on the grounds of Cherry Lake United Methodist Church in Madison, Florida. The Reverend Cherryl Register officiated at the service.

Three children, three grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren survive.

Jean was an unwavering Miami Dolphins fan and loved going to Walt Disney World. She also loved traveling the globe, visiting Israel, Egypt, Russia, Europe, Canada, Alaska, and the Lower 48 states. She loved spending time with family and friends. Most importantly, she loved the Lord, and doing his work was what she truly enjoyed most, knowing that blessings and miracles are all around us and it’s up to us to receive them.

Barbara Jeannette Florence Mosley Mitchell was born on May 23, 1926, in Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, Canada. She was the youngest child of the Reverend Dr. Thomas Arthur Mosley and Ethel Huggons-Brown Mosley, joining her brother, the Reverend Dr. Ronald Arthur Mosley and sister, Elizabeth Ann Mosley Heyworth. Her father was a Methodist preacher who moved after WWI from England to Canada. He later moved to the New England Conference and retired as a member of the Florida Conference.

Barbara studied nursing at Simmons College in Boston, intending to be a flight nurse, but WWII ended. She then continued her college career at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, which she had visited a child. She graduated in 1948 with a degree in Christian education. During her college years, she joined First Methodist Church in Lakeland, worked for the Reverend Warren Willis, and was on the conference youth staff and team in Lakeland and Leesburg. Her first job after graduation was as youth and Christian education director at Park Temple Methodist Church in Fort Lauderdale. In 1949 she became the first director of Christian education in the Florida Conference to be consecrated.

She met a young pastor, Thomas Glenn Mitchell, at the Florida Annual Conference in June 1949. He visited her in Fort Lauderdale in July and proposed. In August he visited her at Martha’s Vineyard and gave her the engagement ring. They were married on January 5, 1950, and when Tom died in 2009, they had been married fifty-nine years.

Barbara and Tom were seldom apart after their wedding. They had three children: Barbara Jeanne Mitchell Driscoll, Thomas Glenn Bosley-Mitchell, and James Arthur Mitchell. Barbara is now an assistant state attorney, while Glenn and Jim are pastors in the Florida Conference.

Barbara journeyed alongside Tom as a preacher’s wife, often pursuing Christian education as Tom served in churches throughout Florida and as associate council director for Ordained Ministry in Lakeland and district superintendent in Tallahassee. Barbara served in conference leadership in many areas, including United Methodist Women, Family Ministries, and Health and Welfare Ministries. She also was elected twice as a Jurisdictional Conference delegate. After Tom retired in 1990, they moved to their home in Lake Junaluska, North Carolina. Missing the grandchildren, they moved back to Lakeland.

Over the years Barbara had several careers, including director of Christian education, director of the Baptist Children’s Home in Lakeland, social worker for the State of Florida Division of Families and Children, director of a family counseling practice, fill-in at the former Maas Brothers store, and occasionally public school teacher. She earned a Master of Social Work degree from Barry College in Miami. Barbara was consecrated a diaconal minister in 1981 and retired in 1991. FAY FLETCHER BAKER

Fay Fletcher Baker’s earthly journey began on March 26, 1936, in Vancleave, Mississippi. Her parents were Carson and Lillie Fletcher. Fay grew up in Vancleave, where she graduated from high school in 1954, one of three, as salutatorian of the class. During her high school days she played on a girls’ basketball team. She attended Pine Grove United Methodist Church, becoming a member there.

One of her cherished memories growing up was being taken to New Prospect Campground in the fall of the year. Her great grandmother, Martha Byrd, gave the land for the campground, which began in 1879. The tabernacle was floored with pine straw, and the enthusiastic gospel singing could be heard for miles around. The camp meeting lasted a week, with stirring preaching and fervent prayer meetings. The cabins, named tents after the original structures, were also floored with pine straw. Fay’s family tent is still floored with pine straw today, one of three on the campground; the others now have concrete. The tradition was very dear to her heart.

In 1954 she met an airman from Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Mississippi, named Jesse Baker. He was a Yankee, but she fell in love with him anyway. She showered him with her southern charm, so much so that he fell deeply in love with her. After a whirlwind courtship of three months, they were married on July 7, 1955. This marriage lasted for fifty-eight years and was filled with joy. It proved to be a wonderful adventure.

Three children were born to this marriage: Bert, in 1958; Vera, in 1961; and Kenneth, in 1967. During this time Jesse received the call to ministry and began his studies toward ordination in The United Methodist Church. It was a lively parsonage family, with all the curiosity and adventure that comes to all children. Fay and Jess offered them love and sought to treat them as normal, given the life in church families.

Fay’s faith was solid and unshakable. The death of their daughter Vera in 1984 brought her and Jess closer to God. She loved to express her faith in arranging flowers, letting their beauty add to worship. She sang in the choir, expressing her faith in song. She was a solid partner with her husband in ministry. You saw one, you saw the other. She worked as a taxpayer’s representative for the IRS, a part-time career that lasted for nineteen years, until retirement in 1998. Another passion of her life was square dancing, which she began in 1979 and enjoyed until her death. These moments were expressions of joy and just pure fun.

In the latter years of her life Fay was a part of the Emmaus community, serving on several weekends in various capacities. It was a life-changing experience that motivated her to bring others to Christ and His love.

Her life has been tragically cut short, but her spirit lives on in the lives of her family as well as the lives of those in the church community. She is survived by her husband; two sons, Bert and Ken; grandchildren, Michele, Nick, Nicole, Kena, and Kenny; and great grandchildren, Jacob, Amelia, and Olivia. Her brother, Bertis, died in 1935, when he was three years old.

On September 1, 2013, Fay left her earthly journey and entered into a heavenly one that has no end. To God be the glory! A celebration of life service was held on September 6, 2013, at First United Methodist Church in Ormond Beach, Florida.

Fae Brocious Brabham was born on July 28, 1918, in Reynoldsville, Pennsylvania, to Minnie Fish Brocious and Robert Brocious. She moved to Florida with her family when she was seven years old and graduated from Miami High School in 1937.

Fae married Spivey Madison Brabham on June 26, 1939. They had four children: Eevalyn W., born on August 26, 1941; Barbara A., born on September 12, 1946; Danny E., born on November 20, 1948; and David A., born on September 8, 1955. Fay and Spivey had been happily married for fifty-two years when he died in 1991.

Fae loved her life as a minister’s wife, a homemaker, a mom, and a grandmother. She loved music—especially the old hymns—played the piano and ukulele, and enjoyed singing with family and church friends. She loved to go fishing and camping. She was a great cook, seamstress, and gardener. She raised butterflies and spent many hours crocheting and sewing for family and friends. She made jam and pickles for all to enjoy. For birthdays she requested donations for her favorite charity. Even though confined to a wheelchair and then bed during the last year of her life, she knitted more than four hundred winter caps for various charities and also for family and friends.

She always said that if someone is hard to love, you love them harder. She loved the Lord and witnessed to all who came to see her. Even if she wasn’t having a good day, she always had a warm smile and hug for you. Her legacy is love and kindness.

Fae died peacefully at home with her daughters on October 20, 2013, after having been ill and homebound for almost two years. One evening at a concert in Miami, after Gary finished an original storytelling song called “Blackberry Lullaby” that featured his Uncle Tabernacle and Aunt Glossolalia Doles, someone in the audience called out, “Was that a true story?” Not missing a beat as he tuned his guitar for the next song, Gary replied, “Well, it’s true, but it’s not exactly what you’d call factual.”

Gary Doles knew that the facts cannot always convey what is most true. To get at the essential mystery of our lives, we need story and song. We need poetry and liturgy and theater. Gary devoted his life to these forms of exploring and evoking what is most true.

Gary Paul Doles was born in Birmingham, Alabama, on November 17, 1951, to Harold and Shirley Sansbury Doles. The family moved to Miami, where he grew up and graduated from North Miami Beach High School in 1969. He spent the rest of his life in various parts of Florida, becoming a nearly-native Floridian whose love of the state was a source of inspiration in his creative life.

Gary moved to Orlando in the 1980s and became involved in the theater community. He was one of the founders of Theatre Downtown, where he produced, acted, directed, designed, and wrote for the stage. He worked for Nickelodeon Studios and then had his own business before launching into a full-time vocation as a performing songwriter and storyteller.

In addition to becoming an award-winning songwriter in the national folk music scene, Gary created a remarkable ministry called the Song Chapel, performing across the United States and engaging audiences with his fresh approach to scripture that drew them deeper into the heart of God. Gary, who performed as Garrison Doles, became widely known for his distinctive style. His ministry embodied his belief that the work of the church is to tell the story in ways that transform our hearts and minds and imaginations so that we can live this story in the world.

Gary frequently collaborated with his wife, the Reverend Jan Richardson, in conferences and retreats around the country, where they offered their unique intertwining of word, song, art, and story. They also ministered together to an international audience through their popular online retreats for Advent and Lent. They created and for eleven years led the Wellspring service at First United Methodist Church of Winter Park, a contemplative worship gathering that drew an eclectic community. The songs he created for Wellspring remain part of his enduring legacy.

Gary died on December 2, 2013, several weeks after experiencing complications during what was expected to be routine surgery to address a brain aneurysm discovered in the summer of 2013. His celebration of life, held at First United Methodist Church of Winter Park, Florida, on December 6, 2013, with Dr. Bob Bushong, the Reverend Brenda Lewis, and the Reverend John Christiansen officiating, was a testimony to the depth and breadth of Gary’s impact.

In addition to Jan, whom he married on April 24, 2010, Gary’s family includes his beloved son, Emile, born in 1993; his father and stepmother, Harold and Dee Doles; his brothers Jeff, Greg, and Jon Doles; and many cherished nieces and nephews.

At the time of his death, Gary had nearly finished two new CDs of original songs, to join his collection. In the title song of one of those, This Bittersweet Life, Gary sings,

A broken heart ~ Is not too much to pay ~ For savoring the wine ~ This bittersweet life

Though brokenhearted, we who know and love Gary Doles also know ourselves blessed and changed by the lasting gift of his life.

MARÍA ROSAURA PARTAL LEGRÁ

María Rosaura Partal Legrá was born on November 30, 1930, in Palma of Mallorca, Spain, to José and Magdalena Partal. She spent the years of her childhood in that beautiful island in the Mediterranean Sea. Rosaura was a teenager when the whole family crossed the Atlantic, moving to the city of Holguín, Cuba, in the eastern part of the island.

It was there that she met Eleazar Legra and fell in love with him. Eleazar was a young member of the Methodist Church in Holguín. DOROTHY JEAN SAYRE LIEVING

Dorothy Jean Sayre Lieving was born to George Elden and Edith Francis Sayre in Point Pleasant, West Virginia, in the home of her Grandma and Grandpa Church.

She married Bernard H. Lieving, Jr., who became a chaplain in the U.S. Army. In 1995 he transferred from the West Virginia Conference to the Florida Conference and served as associate at Hyde Park in Tampa until his retirement in 2005.

As Dorothy traveled the continental United States and Europe as an Army chaplain’s wife, she held various positions focused primarily in education, including pre-school teacher, instructional aide, and library assistant. Following her retirement from education, she started her own catering business, DJ’s Delicacies, specializing in unforgettable pies made from the recipes of her father.

Dorothy always set a leader’s example in caring for soldiers and their families, keenly aware of the need for support during the many transitions of Army life. She was the hostess par excellence, whether creating intimate dinners or big parties as part of her role as an army chaplain’s wife, a duty she loved and took seriously.

Living out of the foundation of her strong Christian faith, Dorothy had a heart for the disenfranchised and victims of injustice and discrimination. She did not tolerate bigotry and lived by example. When at Hyde Park United Methodist Church in Tampa, Florida, she started the Peanut Butter Buddy sandwich ministry. With a couple of loaves of bread and jars of peanut butter and jelly, she provided Sunday morning food for the disadvantaged. Today that ministry has evolved into the Open Arms ministry that serves hot breakfast every Sunday and provides monthly haircuts and clothing distribution to two hundred individuals in need.

Through sixteen moves and all the life changes associated with them, Dorothy always put her own needs second and made her first priority her children, ensuring every house became a home the moment they arrived at each new location.

Dorothy will be remembered for her independent spirit, her brilliant smile and infectious laugh, her life-long stand for justice and equality, and her love and strength as a wife and mother.

Dorothy died on February 26, 2014, of Alzheimer’s disease. She was at home, surrounded by her family. A memorial service was held on March 1, 2014, at Hyde Park United Methodist in Tampa, Florida. BEVERLY SUE BERTHELLOT LOVEDAY

Beverly Sue Berthelot Loveday was born in Warsaw, North Carolina, on March 10, 1947, to Willie Mae Dail Berthelot and Ferdinand Berthelot. The family moved to Sasser, Georgia, in 1960. She attended Georgia Southern College in Statesboro, Georgia, graduating in three years and receiving her teaching certificate.

On March 10, 1968, Bev and the Reverend Lawrence J. Loveday were married in the Sasser United Methodist Church. They had two children, David and Lisa. Beverly was a teacher in the Florida Public School System for thirty-six years. Full of energy, she was often referred to as the Energizer Bunny. She was loved by everyone and was an inspiration to students, faculty, church members, and all she came in contact with.

Among Bev’s many interests were singing, sewing, and crafts. She sang in the church choirs and helped in the church offices with bulletins, newsletters, and directories. She did craft projects with youth groups, was craft leader in the vacation Bible schools, made puppet costumes, and was the person to contact when craft and sewing projects were needed. She served in several leadership positions, both professionally and in the churches we pastored. In a couple of churches parishioners said that they didn’t mind if I moved, but they wanted Bev to stay. Bev was a good Christian woman adored by everyone.

Bev died on June 25, 2013, in Fort Pierce, Florida. When word reached former students and other friends of her death, several wrote that she was probably already working on a project in heaven; she was always on the go. Her Celebration of Life Service was held on July 13, 2013, at the White City United Methodist Church in Fort Pierce, with her husband delivering the life-affirming eulogy. Her ashes were spread by the family on Casperson’s Beach in Venice, Florida. The Venice beach held a special place in Bev’s heart during forty-five years of marriage, so it was appropriate that the beach should be the place for her mortal remains. But we know that she is in heaven with her Lord and Savior Jesus the Christ and other loved ones.

In addition to her husband of forty-five years, Lawrence J. Loveday, she is survived by a son, David Loveday and wife Nikki of Fort Worth, Texas; a daughter, Lisa Loveday of Ponte Vedra Beach, Florida; three sisters, Glenda Stone and husband George of Fleming Island, Florida, Mickie Kennedy and husband Ernie of Dawson, Georgia, and Donna Frye and husband David of Lakeland, Florida; two brothers, Tony Berthelot and wife Janet of Santa Rosa Beach, Florida, and Billy Johnson of Lakeland, Florida; and two granddaughters, Kira Loveday and Makenzie Loveday.

Bev is dearly missed, but Revelation 14:13 is a good scripture to describe Bev and the way she was loved and how she inspired others to do good.

LUZ RAQUEL PÉREZ

Luz Raquel Pérez was born on June 25, 1933, in Jovellanos, Matanzas, Cuba. The oldest of six children, she was the daughter of Antonio Ramón and Brigida Pelay. Her parents were dedicated Christians who had a great influence in the lives of their children. Raquel’s mother prepared her children every week to attend the Sunday school of the Methodist Church of Jovellanos.

Raquel had three sisters, Damaris, Eva, and Gloria, and two brothers, Jose Daniel and Saul. Her brothers received the call to ministry and served the Lord faithfully in the Florida Conference. They both preceded Raquel in death.

Raquel, who was quite talented, was involved in all the activities of the local church. Because of her leadership abilities, she was elected to serve as the secretary of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Cuba Conference.

After finishing the requirements in business administration, Raquel was hired as the secretary of the Civil Court of Jovellanos. She held that position for several years until the Communist regime, installed in Cuba in 1959, replaced most of the officers and employees at governmental offices. She was then called to be administrative assistant to the president of the Evangelical Seminary of Matanzas. Raquel accepted the position and moved to the Seminary, where she spent some of the happiest years of her life. She was not only an excellent administrative assistant but also a valuable member of the Seminary Choir that in those years offered concerts at local churches in the island. It was on one of those tours that Raquel met her husband, the Reverend Candido Perez.

Candido and Raquel married in the summer of 1963 and immediately moved to the small town of Pina, Camaguey, Cuba, where they served that Methodist church for several years. While serving there, they were blessed with the arrival of their first son, Jose Antonio. In February 1968 Candido and Raquel left Cuba with their four-year-old son.

After arriving in the United States, Candido was called to serve the Methodist Church of the Virgin Islands. Later they were appointed to a church in Arecibo, Puerto Rico. In that congregation Raquel worked with youth groups and was instrumental in organizing musical and social events for the whole community. Their second son, Daniel, was born while they were serving that church.

In 1980 Candido was transferred to the Florida Conference to serve the Hardee County Spanish Mission in Zolfo Springs. Later they moved to South Florida, where they served several appointments—Leisure City, Peace, Allapattah, Riverside, and North Hialeah Hispanic—until his retirement in 1999. Her husband, Candido, preceded her in death in 2009. Survivors include her sons, Jose Antonio and Daniel, Daniel’s wife Lorena, and two grandchildren, Alejandro and Christian.

Raquel will be remembered for her cheerful spirit and her love of the Lord. What a joyful celebration in heaven in her reunion with her loved ones.

She and her family moved to Florida in 1935, residing in the Cocoa Beach area. Modell graduated in 1944 from Cocoa High School, where she was a member of the National Honor Society. She was immediately employed as a bookkeeper at Barnett Bank.

Modell united with First Methodist Church in Cocoa and was active in the choir. She was president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship in 1946, at which time she met Raymond Joseph Sharp, a U.S. Navy Petty Officer stationed at Banana River Naval Air Station. A member of the church, he was licensed as a local preacher in 1947.

On Mother’s Day, May 11, 1947, Modell and Ray were united in marriage, which lasted just forty-seven days short of sixty-six years.

Committed to being a pastor’s wife, Modell served well. Through her adult life she was a member of the Wesleyan Service Guild, Woman’s Society of Christian Service, and United Methodist Women. She taught several membership training classes in various churches her husband served. ADELAIDE STEVENS WARE

Adelaide Stevens Ware was born on January 26, 1915, in Forrest City, Arkansas. She was the daughter of Helen Nichols and Walter Stevens. After graduation from Agnes Scott College in Atlanta, Georgia, she enrolled at Candler School of Theology at Emory University. There she met Melton Ware, who was studying for the ministry. They were married on Thanksgiving Day in 1936 in her home church, Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church in Forrest City.

Together she and Mel served churches throughout the conference, and he was the second director of the Conference Council on Ministries.

Adelaide's college career included degrees in Biblical studies and sociology. She participated in her husband's ministries, specifically in the arena of spiritual formation, and established intercessory prayer groups in each church they served. She wrote several booklets on various aspects of prayer, including "Stand Still a While and Listen."

Adelaide was the initial chairperson of the Conference Spiritual Formation team under the Work Area on Prayer and Evangelism in the early 1980s. She led the fifteen-member team to offer the School of Prayer at the Life Enrichment Center in Leesburg, bringing people from the conference together to train lay people to return to their local churches to promote spiritual formation experiences. She helped to bring national speakers to the conference to stimulate deeper individual and corporate spiritual growth. Because of her smart mind, quick humor, dedicated spirit, and commanding presence, those who followed her were confident of her leadership.

In retirement she was trained as a spiritual director. She met with individuals to hear of their journeys with God. She proved to be a good listener, with a sensitive heart and prayer-filled discernment. She spent her days writing and reading, hoping to complete more material on intercessory prayer. Her library was filled with books about spiritual development. One met one's match when sitting with her to discuss formative issues. She was well read and quite communicative of her beliefs.

She and Melton have given the conference a gift that represents their lives in ministry. They have shared with the conference the Prayer Chapel at the Life Enrichment Center. It was her desire that it be a place for only a few at a time and that the space would cause people to be drawn inward. The specifics of the space were considered from a spiritual formation perspective.

Two personal notes describe her well. Each time “Amazing Grace” was sung, she would change the “that saved a wretch like me” to “that saved a soul like me.” She would exclaim, “I am not a wretch! I am a divine soul.” At a Chinese meal together, Adelaide’s fortune cookie said it all in describing her and her vision: “The philosophy of one century is common sense of the next.”

Adelaide died at her home at the Estates at Carpenters in Lakeland, Florida, on August 9, 2013. Graveside services were held on August 15, 2013, at Forrest Park Cemetery in Forrest City, Arkansas. A memorial service was held on August 16, 2013, at the Estates, with the Reverend Henry Schmidt officiating. She is survived by her niece, Edwene Stevens McCollum of Forrest City, and three great nieces. She was preceded in death by her husband, Dr. Melton Ware, in 2008; her brother, Walter Edwin Stevens, Jr.; and her nephew, Walter Edwin Stevens III.
